When we think dental hygienists, we think the hygienist who cleans our teeth at our dentist appointment. But dental hygienists can have more than one role in their careers!

Four dental hygienists spoke at the Kansas Dental Hygienists Association (KDHA) annual meeting last month about their roles they play beyond traditional dental practice. Click here to learn more about each hygienist!

Come learn strategies to help people with disabilities

People with disabilities often need more help to maintain their health, including their oral health. Providing oral health care to a person with a disability requires one to use different techniques in providing care.

At our Oral Health Kansas conference next month, we will have a panel presentation about the best practices in meeting people with disabilities where they are in order to provide the dental services they need.

Moderator:

- Jean Hall, PhD, Institute for Health & Disability Policy Studies, University of Kansas

Panelists:

- Susan Hall, DDS, private practice in Lawrence
- Heather Samuel, RDH, MS, MPH, Johnson County Community College

Kathleen Elder, RDH, ECP II, COM

Our plans include continuation in the Topeka USD 501 Parents as Teachers (PAT) program, as well as the Seaman USD 345 PAT program. A grant was received from the
